

Civic Hall proud of educational programs, shows at RHS in 2013-14

Jun. 6, 2014 |

pal-item.com

The 2013-2014 Proudly Presenting Series of events has now concluded at Civic Hall Performing Arts Center.

We would like to thank our sponsors, program advertisers and contributors for supporting our events this past season.

With their support we were able to bring professional entertainment to the area that included Let's Hang On — A Frankie Valli Tribute; Ain't Misbehavin'; American Big Band — Home for the Holidays; The Grits and Glamour Tour with Pam Tillis and Lorrie Morgan; and The Inspiration of Broadway.

Over 5,000 patrons attended these five events in Civic Hall this past season.

The generous support from our sponsors also helped bring educational activities to over 2,800 students in the community.

During the season educational outreach activities were presented by our featured artists, along with two children's productions and an added musical comedy that were all part of the Proudly Presenting Series.

Our sponsors, program advertisers and series contributors are truly instrumental in supporting educational opportunities and great entertainment for the community.

We thank our 2013-2014 Proudly Presenting Series sponsors: Richmond Community Schools, National Endowment for the Arts, Arts Midwest Touring Fund, Indiana Arts Commission, Community Foundation of Randolph County, The Stamm Koechlein Family Foundation, KICKS 96 (WQLK-FM/WHON-AM), Indiana Public Radio, ThinkTV, Whitewater Broadcasting (WKBV-WFMG). The 2013-2014 Proudly Presenting Series co-sponsors: Earlham College, First Bank Richmond, Palladium-Item, Reid Hospital and Health Care Services, Dr. William H. Toedebusch, Wayne County Foundation, Dr. J. Michael and Nancy Perez and family, Belden, U.S. Bank, Wayne Bank & Trust Co., Paust Printers, West End Bank, S.B. Endowment contributors: Karl and Marjorie Sharp Fund for Richmond Civic Hall, Vikki Johnson Performance Arts Endowment Fund.

Jeff Thorne,